Chapter 409: The Eternal Summit

A Gathering of Creation

Within the vast expanse of the True Absolute One Domain Realm, Sung Jin-Woo summoned a monumental gathering—an Eternal Summit. This summit was to bring together the most powerful beings from across all realms, including the leaders of the Heavenly Realm, the Shadow Abyss, the Nexus Realm, and countless others.

The purpose of the summit: to devise a strategy for eternal harmony and prepare for the inevitability of future cosmic threats.

Massive structures of light and shadow materialized, forming a celestial coliseum that could house the leaders of infinite dimensions. The skies above shimmered with the combined radiance of stars and shadows, and a great throne for the Divine Triad loomed at the center.

The Attendees

The summit brought together beings of unimaginable power, including:

1. Gabriel: Leader of the Celestial Seraphim, representing the Heavenly Armies.

2. Samael: Captain of the Dark Archangels, representing the Shadow Forces.

3. Kaelion: The Eternal Warden, representing the Nexus Realm.

4. Bellion, Beru, and Igris: Generals of the Shadow Abyss, each commanding their own divisions.

5. Aether Primarchs: Beings of pure aether energy from the planes of balance.

6. Dragon Elders: Ancient dragons, emissaries of the True Dragon God Realm, sent by Sung Su-Ho.

7. Ashen Luminaries: Guardians of the True Celestial Realm, under Ashborn’s command.

Representatives of countless other realms filled the coliseum, their combined presence enough to shake the fabric of existence.

The Divine Triad Speaks

As the summit began, Sung Jin-Woo stood, his shadowy aura radiating authority.

“Today, we unite not as separate realms, but as one creation. Our goal is clear: to ensure that no force—whether born of chaos or ambition—can ever destabilize existence again.”

Ashborn followed, his voice calm yet commanding. “The Primordial Will may have been vanquished, but fragments of its essence still linger. The threats we face are not of one realm but of all realms. It is only through unity that we shall endure.”

Sung Su-Ho rose, his fiery presence blazing with passion. “We propose the creation of an eternal Council of Guardians, composed of the strongest among you, to oversee the balance and safety of all realms.”

The Council of Guardians

The proposal was met with widespread agreement. The Council of Guardians would consist of:

1. Gabriel and Samael: Representing light and shadow, ensuring balance between creation and destruction.

2. Kaelion: The Eternal Warden, tasked with guarding the Nexus.

3. Bellion, Beru, and Igris: Shadow generals, representing the will of the Shadow God.

4. Aether Primarch Zoriel: The keeper of cosmic balance.

5. Elder Dragon Vaeltharion: Representing the True Dragon God Realm.

6. Ashen Sentinel Lyria: Guardian of the Celestial Plane.

These members would work under the Divine Triad’s guidance, with each guardian responsible for a specific realm or domain.

The New Accord

To ensure the success of this council, the Divine Triad enacted a New Accord, a binding divine contract. This accord:

1. Allowed the free exchange of knowledge, resources, and aid between realms.

2. Prohibited wars between realms, punishable by divine intervention.

3. Enabled swift communication through celestial gateways created by Sung Jin-Woo’s power.

4. Granted every realm representation in the Eternal Summit.

The New Accord was sealed with the combined power of the Divine Triad, their signatures glowing in the air as they engraved the pact into the fabric of existence itself.

The Trial of the Wills

To inaugurate the Council of Guardians, Sung Jin-Woo announced a trial: the Trial of the Wills. Each guardian would demonstrate their strength, wisdom, and resolve to prove they were worthy of their role.

The trial consisted of:

1. Combat: Facing a manifestation of the fragmented Primordial Will.

2. Wisdom: Solving cosmic puzzles that tested their understanding of creation and balance.

3. Resolve: Enduring the combined pressure of the Divine Triad’s energy.

Each guardian faced the trial with determination. Gabriel’s light shone brighter than ever, Samael’s shadows danced with deadly precision, and Kaelion’s resilience was unmatched.

When the trials ended, the Council of Guardians was officially established, their members standing as paragons of unity and strength.

A Future Secured

With the Council in place and the New Accord enacted, Sung Jin-Woo looked out over the gathered beings.

“This is not the end,” he said, his voice resonating through the realms. “It is the beginning of an era where all creation stands as one. Together, we will face whatever comes, and together, we will prevail.”

The summit ended with a declaration of unity, the combined voices of infinite realms echoing through the cosmos.
